From the Pastor

Catholic Education: Part 2

Our Catholic School is also subsidized by those who built these great buildings—which most of us have inherited and did not pay a penny to build.

The School was built mostly by blue-collar working people who saved every penny they could so that their parish could have a Catholic School. They may have had their problems, but for the most part, the people using them today didn't pay a penny to build them.

As the Catholic community in town, you have a moral responsibility to send your kids to our Catholic School, or to support the financial-aid fund, and to support the Church and the School in other ways. Promoting a Catholic Education should become completely central and not as a sideline effort.

Parents are the primary educators of the faith—not the principal—not the parish priest. Where does this come from? It's built into the Rite of Baptism. There are three questions that are asked when parents bring their children for baptism. The first question is: "What name have you given your child?" Although parents of newborns are often sleep-deprived, they generally can answer this first question with ease.

The second question from the Rite of Baptism is: "What do you ask of the Church for your child?"

Again, parents who have gone through some kind of Baptism Preparation Course can give the answer to the second question: "Baptism."

It's the third question that's the "kicker" for the parents: "You have asked for your child to be baptized. In doing so, you are accepting responsibility for raising her/him in the practice of the faith. It will be your duty to bring him/her up according to the laws of Christ and His Church. Do you clearly understand what you are undertaking?" When parents answer "yes" to this question and—trust me—not all of them really do

"understand" what they are "undertaking." It's a Marian "yes." It's a "yes" out of faith. It's a great responsibility. And providing your children with a Catholic Education, where available, is carrying out that responsibility.

Tuition brings in only 59% of what it takes to educate a child here at St. Francis. Therefore, we rely heavily on fundraisers, individual donations, and Church support to raise the remaining 41%.

Thanks to all who worked hard and made sacrifices so that we were able to end in the "black" for the last four years.

I would like to engage in sound business practices to move the School from isolated and unconnected instances of fundraising to a sustained vision for development. We are a School and a Parish. It is like the two hands or legs we have. Both need to be strong to function well.

Ever since we got rid of the Church debt, we have been providing greater financial support to the School. However, we need to further increase enrollment. That is the key to sustainability.

I cannot do this myself. I need the parents to send their children to our School. It is possible with some sacrifices. When each parent makes this sacrifice for your children, we will become successful as a community with God's blessings. We have set up a Scholarship Fund to assist you. This is something in which everyone can help.

Thanks to all those who have supported this fund. During the last School year, there were 28 students were able to attend St. Francis School because of this assistance.

We are making a very significant investment going into the coming academic year. We have several new and highly qualified teachers—including a new Principal. We have a total of 28 full-time / part-time paid staff for the School, which is about one staff person for every five students.

—Fr. Jose Thomas Mudakodiyil

Knights' Corner

- ◆ The Knights of Columbus emphasize Patriotism as one of their core principles. Celebrating Independence Day a couple of weeks ago serves as a reminder of the freedoms we enjoy, including the freedom of religion. It's a time to reflect on the blessings of living in a country that allows us to practice our faith openly and to appreciate the sacrifices made by those who fought for our liberty.
- ◆ The role of the Knights of Columbus in community events, especially through the presence of the Color Guard, truly exemplifies the spirit of patriotism and faith in action. By participating in these events, our local members not only honor their country and the St. Francis family, they also serve as visible reminders of the values of faith, charity, and unity that the Knights of Columbus uphold.
- ◆ It's inspiring to see how the principles of the Knights are lived out in practical ways, fostering a sense of community and shared purpose. This dedication to service and patriotism is a powerful testament to the positive impact that faith-based organizations can have on society. Becoming a Knight is gaining a brotherhood like no other. Interested? Please introduce yourself to one of the Knights standing at the back of the church at Mass, or call:

Matt Deppmeier (541) 904-5548
